

PEABODY PREPARATORY PERCUSSION DEPARTMENT

FALL SEMESTER 2011 – September 7, 2011 – January 14, 2012

NEW! PREPARATORY PERCUSSION GROUP (Ages 11-18)

Peabody campus (downtown)

with

Ian Rosenbaum

Peabody Preparatory Percussion Department faculty, Preparatory Percussion Group Director

held at the

Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University
21 E. Mount Vernon Place, Baltimore, MD 21202

Open to all percussion students regardless of whether they receive individual instruction at the Preparatory

Learning how to play music with other musicians is a vital skill, whether you want to be a drummer in a jazz combo, a new music musician, or play in Stomp on Broadway! You will learn that skill and MORE in Peabody's NEW Preparatory Percussion Group. This group will study classic percussion works by masters such as John Cage and Steve Reich, as well as foster collaboration between the percussion department and the composition department to produce brand new works for percussion ensemble. The group will present annual concerts and have the opportunity to work with the award-winning Peabody Percussion Group (the Conservatory-level ensemble), its director, Professor Robert van Sice, and other special guests from the chamber music field. Minimum of 4 students.

Ian Rosenbaum is a Peabody alumnus with years of experience with chamber music involving percussion. He has appeared at the Chamber Music Northwest, Norfolk and Yellow Barn music festivals, is a member of Le Train Bleu, NOVUS NY, and the Synthesis percussion trio. Rosenbaum has frequently performed with the So Percussion group. This year, he joins the faculties of the Peabody Preparatory and Yale College. Rosenbaum is a member of Chamber Music Society Two.
