THE CLARENCE MANGER & AUDREY CORDERO PARENT PLITT LOAN FUND

The Clarence Manger & Audrey Cordero Parent Plitt Loan Fund was specifically designed to help parents of the Peabody Conservatory students pay for college education in regular installments over an extended period of time—up to ten years at a low simple interest rate of 3% (calculated on a daily basis on the outstanding balance).

HOW IT WORKS

If, for example, you elect to borrow $4,000 per year for 4 years ($16,000 Total), you would make 120 monthly Payments of $154.50 each, starting on August 1st of the first year.

Since the funds for this program are limited, the Institute reserves the right to limit acceptance of loan applications if the demand for these loans exceeds the resources available.

THE PROMISSORY NOTE

One promissory note is signed for the total amount borrowed over the full time period. However, parents may discontinue the plan at any time, and Only repay the outstanding portion of the obligation.

Repayment:

Repayment schedule begins on August 1st.

AMOUNT TO BE FINANCED

The maximum amount to be financed each year may not exceed the balance of the Peabody Conservatory cost of education less all financial aid received by the student (including outside sources and federal private loans). The maximum loan amount is $17,380 per year for four years.

It is anticipated that students will apply for financial aid and all eligible federal loans.
