Anastasia Pike

Peabody Preparatory Harp Faculty and Principal Harpist, Capital City Symphony

Anastasia Pike holds degrees from the University of Maryland, Pensacola Theological Seminary, the Peabody Conservatory of the Johns Hopkins University, and Columbia University. She received additional training at the Juilliard School, the MasterWorks Festival – London, and upon personal invitation, to the Salzedo School. Pike is the principal harpist of the Washington, DC based Capital City Symphony, and opened the 2009-2010 season with a sold-out concert as concerto soloist. She has performed on national and international television, and in venues including New York’s Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall, Boston’s Jordan Hall, and Baltimore’s Lyric Opera House. Pike has also collaborated with colleagues and famous artists across the globe. As one half of the Sprezzatura Duo, she performs audience-friendly concerts featuring music from around the world. In addition to her career as a concert harpist, Pike is an award-winning pianist, and maintains a private studio of both piano and harp students. She has also been featured on over 10 different CDs as both harpist and pianist. As a musicologist, Pike has conducted research nationally and internationally, worked with celebrated artists, and written for the American Harp Journal, as well as for various encyclopedic volumes by Salem Press. In addition to serving on the Preparatory harp faculty, she is also on the harp faculty of Columbia University.
